

SMART Student Council Report

SMART Level 1 Leadership: Reliable Helper

Maddie Chinn, Jaeda Gately, James Knight, Jamie Bradbury

Places in school such as the ALC have a very positive mood. The IT suite, Quiet Area and Reading Area are very relaxing and studious areas to be. Most students agree that the ALC is a generally positive place to be in school.

"The revision boards on the walls help you to study while in the IT suite"

"The book range varies from revision books to pass-time reads"

"The room is very quiet and relaxing"

Some places in the school like the downstairs languages corridor have a more negative mood. There is open construction work on the ceilings which makes the area feel unsafe to be in. There are bare wires hanging from the ceiling which makes some students feel uneasy. When we asked some students in year 7 which parts of the school could be improved, the almost immediate reaction from them was the languages corridor.

Our school's SMART council have decided that to improve the negative area of the school we should finish the construction work on the ceiling. After that was done, the students we talked to said they would like to be able to personalize the look and feel of the school by putting more of their work up around the school corridors.

We hope you enjoyed our report and will consider addressing the issues brought up.

Yours sincerely,

LSCC
